From Sally Knutson's article:

Have you noticed the beautiful flag flying over the entrance to Grass Valley from the South? Every time I drive up Hwy. 49 into Grass Valley my heart skips a beat when I see that magnificent flag.

I mentioned it to my sister one day and she said, "Oh, the Garrison Flag?"

A Battle Cry for the Next Gen in Nevada County

Valerie Jensen

Is it any wonder that the number of youths suffering from despair, homelessness and suicidal thoughts has recently skyrocketed? Educators frame the picture for impressionable youth in Nevada County schools of a fatally flawed America, a world facing imminent extinction, unfettered sexual ideations, and mistrust for parental values. These messages have permeated the minds and hearts of students as young as kindergarten in local district schools.

The vision of a grand revolution, promoted by the Italian Communist, Antonio Gramsci, is moving rapidly towards reality: "capturing the culture via infiltration of schools, universities, churches, and the media by transforming the consciousness of a society."

Our youth deserve to hear in no uncertain terms how the United States of America is a vibrant, noble country designed to preserve rights endowed by our Creator; that Earth will continue much as it has for 8,000 years; no amount of cosmetic adjustment can alter basic biological structures deeply embedded in male and female DNA; our youth warrant protection from sexualization; and families, though imperfect, earned the role of equipping their children with fundamental values.

The leftist dream of dismantling America in its "long march through the institutions," as outlined in the 1960's by German Marxist Rudi Dutschke, must come to a screeching halt.

A minute band of elite ideologue now pull threads reaching far into our most rural communities. Are we really powerless against these gathering forces? Alexandr Solzhenitsyn outlined that individuals can defeat the type of regime now careening us towards nihilism.

How we cut their binding cords:

- Attend School Board Meetings
- Join School Committees
- Engage In And Post On Social Media Forums
- Submit Your Perspectives To Publications
- Support Institutions And Businesses That Promote American-Style Freedom, Authentic Equality, Genuinely Healthy Lifestyles And Family Values
- Learn The Ideology Behind The Latest Acronym/Term: Crt, Blm, Sel (Social-Emotional Learning), Equity, Sustainability
- Research non-public forms of education: homeschool, private school
- Establish your own private school by filing a Private School Affidavit (PSA)

Someone stirred the ashes left in that Greenwich Village basement by the Weather Underground when the bomb they were crafting exploded in March of 1970. Time to send the latest iteration of ghoulish ideologies back into the thin air from whence they arose.

Critical Race Theory

The main belief (and biggest lie) of critical race theory is that the United States is institutionally and systemically racist. Nevada County children are being subjected to this indoctrination.

Why Are We Teaching Racism?

Prior to attending the NC Board of Education meeting I looked at the monthly county newsletter, The Nugget, page 3, for April. I applaud their work in highlighting student awards but noticed another writing contest for the month of May “Nevada County Reads 2023” with author Charles Yu. Mr. Yu has written several acclaimed books and short stories, but the County is show casing” Interior Chinatown”. His family immigrated from Taiwan. He is an Asian American.

The 4 topics students can write about (no age level was given) are the following:

1. Describe a moment when you felt limited by society’s expectations and norms.
2. How do dreams or idealizations change with experience?
3. Comment on racism and representations in the entertainment industry.
4. Write about America’s history of Anti-Asian Discrimination.

My question is: Does Nevada County have a pattern of discrimination against the Asian community? Nevada County has a rich history of Asian families. Why not direct students to research our local history? Why not create topics that would reflect positive involvement of minorities? Why not research positive topics regarding locals and how knowing these families can foster appreciation of the Asian community outside Nevada County. We have/had actors, playwrights, grocers, professional health care workers, retail and laundry owners. All wonderful families. In fact, when I was still on the Grass Valley City Council, having just stepped down as mayor, we named a street in honor of our Asian American families. Tinloy Street. Our students should be researching that.

The topics listed for the contest are all negative and not one is directed to our historical Asian community or the fact we, as a society, have come a long way since importing Chinese laborers. Why aren’t we teaching our students the truth: they live in a county full of good and decent people and they are citizens of a country that has provided more freedom and more opportunity to more humans than any country in history.

Dr. Michelle Cretella, an expert in adolescent sexuality, believes the explosion among youth of transgenderism is, "most certainly due to indoctrination." Nevada County schools are not immune.

Menstrual Equity at Clear Creek Elementary School

By Ann Driver
Rough & Ready, CA

I recently attended a school board meeting of the tiny Clear Creek Elementary School District on McCourtney Road here in Nevada County. During the session a new policy came up for a vote to require that free menstrual products, both pads and tampons, be available in the girls', non gender, and at least one boys' restroom for all students grades 6-12. The policy, an administrative regulation coming down from the state, was unanimously approved by the board with no discussion. After the meeting I spoke with a mom who not only opposed this policy but also told me that the Parent Teacher Organization had requested $300 to purchase Badminton equipment for the multipurpose room to provide a bad weather activity but was told there wasn't enough money to do that. She was reasonably very frustrated.

Obviously the school board was dealing with a transgender issue. I didn't ask if they had any transgender students, but that really didn't matter. According to the state it would be irrelevant. They simply must provide the tampons and pads in order to check off the box. If a girl wanted to be a boy, she/he had to be assisted in making that transition. She/he would be allowed to use the boys' restrooms and locker rooms. Boys who wanted to be girls would be allowed to use the girls' restrooms and locker rooms.

The issue of biological boys using girls' facilities has exploded with the media's attention to several rape cases across the country. One transgender male raped a girl in the girls' restroom at school. Because the boy claimed he/she was a girl the school district didn't disclose what had happened and simply transferred him/her to another high school instead of having him/her arrested. At that school he/she raped another girl. You may have heard of this case on television because one of the girl's fathers went to the school board meeting to lodge a complaint about his daughter's rape, but was violently taken down by the police. NewsMax at least reported on this.

*From Sarah Lindblom concerning the Chicago Park School board minutes of 3-9-23:
The Board discussed Menstrual Equity and came to the conclusion to comply to avoid a lawsuit as they discovered COULD happen. They also discussed SEL, "pros and cons" and decided to "continue status quo".*

"Truly, those who can make us believe in absurdities can make us commit atrocities". ~ Voltaire
Menstrual Equity is an absurdity.

Menstrual Equity (Period equity)

The affordability, accessibility and safety of menstrual products for all people - including laws and policies - that acknowledge and consider menstruation.
